MEXICAN CHIEF WILL ARBITRATE

HUERTA WILL BE FORCED OUT

Gamboa Will Succeed Him According to American Refugees Who Have Arrived at Vera Cruz

New York, April 28.—According to a dispatch received by the New York Sun from Vera Cruz, Huerta will voluntarily abdicate or will be forced out with violence within a few days, according to American refugees who arrived on a special train from the capital this afternoon.

Frederico Gamboa, former minister of foreign affairs, once Governor of Yucatan and candidate of the Catholic party at Huerta's election, is named as the man to supplant Huerta.

According to the refugees, anti-Huerta sentiment has so crystallized at the capital that on Saturday the conspirators made an attempt to oust the dictator, but failed. They do not go into details. They are certain, however, that Huerta is becoming more and more unpopular because the better class of Mexicans are finding out that the administration has deliberately deceived them with regard to the action of the United States.

The truth about Vera Cruz has reached the capital and has added in bringing about a reversal of sentiment or at least an abatement of the patriotic frenzy. They know that the Americans did not butcher Mexican men, women and children when they occupied the town; they know also that Spain is not at war with the United States.

The change is so great that it is believed by a great many Mexicans at the capital that the Americans are not at Vera Cruz at all.

As nearly as can be ascertained the anti-Huerta plots centre about the strong faction which, in the last week of January, endeavored to oust the dictator. The leaders then were old followers of Porfirio Diaz, now followers of Felix Diaz, and so-called Cientificos of the Limantour group.

The plot was revealed by a traitor, and about 20 prominent Mexicans were either arrested or deported. Gamboa himself was taken at that time, although the question whether he was concerned in the plot was not settled. He is regarded as a cool-headed, progressive Mexican, but it is admitted that he will have some difficulty in receiving the approval of the Constitutionalists. His name was mentioned to them six months ago by those endeavoring to bring about peace and it was rejected.

FUNERAL NOTICE

Funeral services of Mrs. Cynthia M. McIntosh will be held at the home No. 48 Court street Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. Friends invited.

CONFIDENCE RESTORED

American Forces Take Charge of Railroads Near Vera Cruz.

(Special to The Herald)
Vera Cruz, April 28.—The American forces took charge of all the rail lines in this territory today. The railroad is owned by British capital. Refugees are arriving by train today from Mexico City and the recent orders of Admiral Fletcher have served to restore confidence between the Americans and Mexicans.

HAVE NOT LANDED.

Delay of Disembarking of the Troops at Vera Cruz Causes Speculation.

(Special to The Herald)
Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 28.—General Funston and his army has not as yet disembarked from the transports. Just what the delay means is not given out but it has caused much speculation.

PEACE OUTLOOK GOOD.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, April 28.—The Dove of Peace looms up more prominent than ever today. The government officials believe that old man Huerta will be forced to weaken.

ORDERED BACK INTO SERVICE

James A. Ring, Pay Director, Retired, to Relieve Pay Inspector Ryan in This City.

One of the first retired officers of the navy to be called back into the service during the Mexican trouble is James A. Ring, a former pay director now living at Quincy, Mass., who was last on active duty as purchasing pay officer in this city. He will relieve Pay Inspector Eugene D. Ryan of this station who has been ordered to duty at New Orleans yard.

Pay Inspector Ryan has been here but a short time and had secured a lease of a residence on South street for a year.

Several new cottages are in process of erection at Rollins Farm, Newington, and will be occupied by local parties.

Formally Accepts Mediation of Republics

Army Brigade Arrives at Vera Cruz and Gen. Funston Will Assume Command of Landing Forces.-- Americans Allowed to Leave Mexico City

Washington, April 28.—Formal acceptance by the Huerta government of the offer of Argentina, Brazil and Chile to use their good offices to bring about an amicable settlement of the difficulty between the United States and Mexico was called to Spanish Ambassador Riano here last night by Portillo Rojas Foreign Minister in the Huerta cabinet.

Secretary Bryan on part of the U. S. having accepted the offer of the good offices when tendered Saturday, the first step is now completed and the way paved for actual negotiations looking to a peaceful clearing up of the situation.

El Paso, Texas, April 27.—The relations between General Carranza and Villa suddenly became the one topic of conversation today on a dissection of information brought in by refugees and the sudden departure of Villa for Carranza's headquarters in Chihuahua.

The two leaders were to meet tonight. It was expected to compose their difference over the attitude which the Constitutionalists shall hold towards the United States and over grave problems of military command.

Refugees brought word that affairs between them had reached a stage where one or the other must accept a distinctly second position in the revolution.

Villa had contemplated a longer stay in Mexico, but last night on receipt of certain telegrams from the south suddenly announced that he would leave on the morrow. He invited Roberto V. Pesquera, Carranza's confidential agent to go with him; but Pesquera, who is the real foreign minister of the Constitutionalists, although he holds no portfolio, pleaded pressure of business and the train after waiting five hours departed without him.

Significance was attached to the departure of Rafael Zubaran, Carranza's minister of the interior, for Washington. He left today and every effort was made to conceal the fact.

With Pesquera here and Zubaran in Washington there will be a complete chain for communication for the latter city, through agents thoroughly familiar with sentiment in northern Mexico, with military politics and the exchange of views over the occupation of Vera Cruz.

Carranza is still awaiting a reply from President Wilson or Secretary Bryan to his disturbing note of last Wednesday.

Thus Carranza's aids have repeatedly explained was intended as the basis of further diplomatic exchanges but the impression is growing that there will be no reply from Carranza. Carranza asked that the American forces be withdrawn from Vera Cruz and the President has since made it clear that he has no such intention at present.

Rebel commanders everywhere received warnings to treat foreigners and their property with every respect and not to heed exaggerated reports of strained relations with the United States.

Vera Cruz, April 27.—The American flag was hoisted at noon today, with appropriate ceremonies, over the headquarters of Rear Admiral Fletcher.

Huerta Accepts Mediation

Washington, April 27.—Word that Gen. Huerta had accepted the tender of good offices made by Argentina, Brazil and Chile, was conveyed to President Wilson today through diplomatic sources.

Huerta's formal acceptance has not been drafted, but he has informed the diplomats in Mexico City who took up the subject with him that he would accept.

Ambassador de Gálvez of Brazil with Ministers Suarez of Chile and Naon of the international difficulties conferred Argentina, who will be mediators in early today and counseled also with diplomatic representatives of other Latin-American Republics, who are cooperating unofficially in the preliminary negotiations which all hope may lead to prevention of war with Mexico.

Spanish Ambassador Riano reached his Embassy earlier than usual and arranged for a conference with Mr. Naon to consider future plans. The message from Huerta, he anticipated, would come through the Spanish diplomat's representative in Mexico City.

Huerta to Let Americans Go.

Washington, April 27.—After a conference with President Wilson today, Sec. Bryan announced that all arrangements had been completed to permit all Americans in Mexico City to leave there. Seven hundred American men and women are preparing to go, complete.

GIVES HUERTA'S SIDE AND SAYS MEXICO COULD WAGE FIERCE WAR

Private Peace Commissioner Tells of Dictator's Vast Resources.

Describes Futile Mission—Lifting of Embargo on Arms Enraged Huerta.

HUERTA hasn't begun to scratch the resources of Mexico. With the assistance of a dollar of outside capital he could carry on his present campaign against the rebels for five years. If people to the United States realized that Huerta can raise $300,000,000 at any time with little effort, perhaps the prospect of armed intervention or war wouldn't be regarded as so much of a sky-lark for the American army and navy.

William H. Ellis, a New York capitalist and personal friend of General Huerta, made this statement to the Brooklyn Eagle and told how the secret effects of a self-constituted peace commission, of which he was a member, were shattered by President Wilson's order lifting the embargo on arms in Mexico on the very eve of Huerta's compliance.

"Neither General Carranza nor General Villa will ever enter the City of Mexico—least of all if the news dispatches of a split between them are true. On the other hand, so long as the Wilson policy of nonrecognition persists, revolution will continue so long as there is a dollar left in Mexico or a horse or cow standing on four feet.

"It would be more honorable and, I imagine, safer for General Huerta to give his sword to an American general on a battlefield than to hand it over to either General Carranza or General Villa. At present it doesn't seem as if he were going to do either.

American Capital Tied Up

"Intervention in the present crisis would create a very bad impression upon all South and Central America. Had President Huerta been recognized by the United States the revolution would not have been as strong as it is today and probably would have been put down altogether.

"At the present time $300,000,000 of American capital is at a standstill. It is bringing no interest. Next year the banks will begin to foreclose and the train of financial ruin that will follow will be appalling."

There are few Americans, says the Eagle, better qualified to talk under standingly of Mexico and its needs than Mr. Ellis. He is on the "inside" and has been so for the past thirty-three years. He was born on the Mexican frontier and spent his early days as a cowboy, later branching out to cattle, wool, hide and cotton trading.

Mr. Ellis, together with Dr. Bernabé Barrios, left secretly on Dec. 24 for the City of Mexico as a special peace commission, to interview President Huerta and the leading Mexican citizens and to present to them a proposition to end the civil war.

In speaking of their mission, Mr. Ellis said:

"Our first interview with Huerta took place at his private residence. He is a practical man and the results of the mission were called in New York. The negotiations were then very simple."

"There is one solution to the situation which has been suggested to those in intimate contact with Mexican affairs, but of which the general public, I believe, knows little. If President Huerta should resign, and, going with, take charge of the army and fight the rebels, something might be accomplished. It has been suggested that he leave the presidency to José López y Portillo y Rojas, his minister of foreign affairs, a man of great talent and ability. He has the respect of his enemies as well as his friends and would, no doubt, make an ideal president."

"There is one solution to the situation which has been suggested to those in intimate contact with Mexican affairs, but of which the general public, I believe, knows little. If President Huerta should resign, and, going with, take charge of the army and fight the rebels, something might be accomplished. It has been suggested that he leave the presidency to José López y Portillo y Rojas, his minister of foreign affairs, a man of great talent and ability. He has the respect of his enemies as well as his friends and would, no doubt, make an ideal president."

"Our definite suggestion was that a committee of twenty leading men, from both Mexico and the United States, should meet and draw up a plan for bringing about an agreement between the two countries. This plan, when drawn up, was to be laid before President Wilson and President Huerta for their approval.

"President Huerta seriously considered the proposition. He told us he appreciated our motives and that the idea was a good one. And then occurred an event which completely ruined the entire scheme.

"The embargo on arms was lifted for the rebels by President Wilson. Negotiations were immediately broken off by President Huerta.

"It is now a fight to the finish and to death. I am not at all sure that I am not definitely committed to this cause," continued Mr. Ellis. "It seemed as if the plan would go through. After the embargo on arms was lifted, however, General Huerta plainly was opposed to any peace scheme.

"It seems as if the government of the United States wants to allow us to exterminate ourselves," said President Huerta. "There is nothing I can do as representative of the Mexican government except to fight. It is no time to talk peace."

"As far as foreign capital is concerned the situation is truly appalling. More than $300,000,000 of American capital is at complete standstill, and before the end of the year the banks will probably begin to foreclose. Thousands of American residents will be forced to leave their homes. Their children were born in Mexico and brought up largely as Mexicans. They are Mexicans in everything except nationality. The present administration did not take into consideration that by ordering these thousands of Americans out of the country it was ruining them financially. They have no connections in this country, although it is their own. A lifetime's earnings are now at hazard in Mexico."

Huerta's Resources.

"In my discussion of Huerta's strength and the possibilities of his holding out indefinitely it is necessary to consider the immense financial resources at his command. How many persons know that Huerta can raise $300,000,000 at any time he desires? First of all, he has suspended the payment on all his bonded indebtedness and railroad bonds. He has doubled the taxes on all mortgages, stamps, mining interests and other properties. The government is now considering mortgaging or leasing a band against the church property in Mexico, which, under the law, is government property and aggregates between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 pesos. The Catholic church in Mexico, as every one knows, is fully able to redeem this property. If the government seizes these church properties the entire issue would be subscribed by the church."

"There are approximately 1,000 large haciendas, or ranches, in Mexico. Each has a great estate of land, with a large number of peons, or laborers, and a large number of cattle. These haciendas are the main source of revenue that could be relied upon. Each barrel of oil, every one of the mines, could be taxed, and the import and export duties could be raised."

"I believe that Huerta could whip the rebels in any pitched battle. This, however, would only prolong the revolution. The rebels would simply stand and break up into small groups. Instead of having 5,000 rebels in one place we would have hundreds, posing as revolutionists, roaming over the entire republic, robbing and murdering and committing outrage after outrage. The only way to quell revolution is to quell the revolutionists. This would mean turning Mexico into a vast slaughterhouse."

"There is one solution to the situation which has been suggested to those in intimate contact with Mexican affairs, but of which the general public, I believe, knows little. If President Huerta should resign, and, going with, take charge of the army and fight the rebels, something might be accomplished. It has been suggested that he leave the presidency to José López y Portillo y Rojas, his minister of foreign affairs, a man of great talent and ability. He has the respect of his enemies as well as his friends and would, no doubt, make an ideal president."

Who Will Succeed Huerta?

"In case the American government, with pressure or otherwise, eliminated President Huerta, who would be president in his stead?

"General Carranza is intelligent and clever, but I do not think Carranza has sufficient strength to control his forces. Should Huerta resign, he is moved or defeated by the insurgents he would still have such a great following that Carranza would have difficulty in bringing peace to the country. The federalists as they now stand constitute the real Mexican army. They have given years to military education and service, and, of course, they would not consent to be governed by a man or a set of men who were apparently made overnight. The officers of the rebel army are intelligent men who have taken up arms for a cause which they consider a principle. If they succeed they will take full charge of the government, and the present executives with long years of military experience would be replaced by generals made on the battlefield.

"As for General Félix Díaz, he is a brave, honest, courageous young man, but whether or not he has enough forces now at his command to elect himself president is a question that the Mexican people can best decide.

The "Dark Horse."

"General Fernando González, son of ex-President González, is an intelligent general and would also make a good president. He is at present living in New York and is a man of ideas, honest and clever, although not a military man."

GENERAL CARRANZA, A POSSIBILITY AS HUERTA'S SUCCESSOR.

president. He is at present living in New York and is a man of ideas, honest and clever, although not a military man."

"But there is a dark horse in the race. His name seems almost forgotten, and I dare say that the average newspaper reader has never heard of him. He is a man that has never encouraged a revolution. He was forced to leave Mexico during the early days of Juárez's revolution and was forced to leave a second time, after General Huerta became president. He is honest, able and straightforward, and he would suit all factions. His name is Dr. Vasquez Gómez, and at present he is living in Washington."

"Mexico is not waiting for intelligent men. But it is in want of a military leader. The people are accustomed to being ruled by an iron hand."

HISTORY AND DESCRIPTION OF THE PORT OF VERA CRUZ

Quaint Cosmopolitan City Occupied by Americans in 1847.

Vera Cruz is the principal port in Mexico and was founded by the Spanish in the sixteenth century. It is about 120 miles from the City of Mexico and has a population of about 20,000. The city is built on low, sandy, swampy ground and is only four feet above sea level. Until recently it was subject to epidemics of fever. Until the last five years the harbor was a dangerous roadstead, but the moles and breakwaters constructed by the Mexican government under Díaz have improved it until it is as safe as any on the east coast of Mexico. The city of Vera Cruz is defended by an old fort called the Castle of San Juan de Ulúa, one mile from the mainland on an island, and also contains an arsenal, dry dock, shipyard, lighthouse and military prison.

"The city itself is perhaps the quaintest and most cosmopolitan of the ports of Mexico and is a mixture of the antique and modern. There are many fine new buildings, and in some places these are set next to churches and dwellings that date from the Spanish occupation. The low buildings of the old walled city are mostly built of coral, and their domes and cupolas give a picturesque effect from the harbor."

Vera Cruz was in the hands of Americans in 1847, when General Scott captured it in the course of the Mexican war. As it is the harbor of the capital, it is an important strategic point. Sanitary conditions are now good, and the old time open sewers have been done away with. Asphalt is used very extensively for pavements, and only in the poorer districts are cobblestones still found.

There are many churches of interest and many relics of the early days when the Spanish used the city as their base of supplies in their warfare against the Aztecs. Later Vera Cruz was the port from which the "silver fleets" set forth to Spain. The last Spanish flag in Mexico was hoisted down from the fort in the harbor when the Mexicans revolted and drove the Spaniards out. Tuxtepec, with a population of about 17,000, is the second port of Mexico and is 225 miles northwest of Vera Cruz. The harbor is good, now that the breakwaters and jetties have been finished, and it is seldom that low tides delay navigation over the bar.

The city differs in appearance from other Mexican towns. The roofs of the buildings are pitched and gabled instead of being flat. It is said that the government spent more than $2,000,000 on the custom house and pier, at which five steamers can load at the same time.

HIS TALE OF TROUBLE

YOUNG MAN LOUD IN DEMAND OF NEEDED CHANGES.

Hard as It Is Sometimes to Get Into a Flat, He Found It Very Much Harder to Get Out of It.

"I think," said this young man, with great emphasis on the personal pronoun, "that there ought to be on the inner side of the exit door of every flat, just as there is required by law to be on every exit door from a theater, a conspicuous sign plainly lettered 'Exit.' I'll tell you why."

"Last night I called on a young lady of my acquaintance who lives in a flat and I passed a very pleasant evening. But when I tried to go away I got into trouble. The parlor in this flat is at the front end of a hall that, I should think, spending moderately, was 60 feet long. On one side of this long hall there is a solid wall, but on the other side there are numerous doors, opening, I suppose, into sleeping rooms. There is one such door directly opposite the door by which you enter this flat from the outer hall. It was by confusing that last bedroom door with the exit door which I faced that I got lost."

"There was a time when folks used to escort their guests to the door and say good-by or good-night to them there, but it seems that the present style is to say good-night in the parlor and let the guest find his way out, and that's what happened to me last night."

"When I struck the parlor end of that long hall I thought I could find my way all right. There was the long hall, with the wall on one side and that string of doors on the other, all just as it was when I came in, and it looked easy. But when I got down to the far end of it I'm Mussed if I could remember which side of it I came in at, and instead of taking the door to my right, as I should have done, I opened the left hand door, and—"

"Hey, there! What's bith' you? Get out of here! I heard somebody saying."

"Of course it was the young lady's kid brother. He had been in the parlor a little while earlier in the evening and then disappeared, and I knew now that he must have gone to bed and that I had broken into his room trying to find my way out."

"All right youngster! I say to him as gayly as I could, but I shut his door as quickly as possible and made for the door opposite and got out into the hall and pressed the elevator button for an emergency call—and I didn't come to fully until I had got out of the house into the open air."

"There ought to be a plainly lettered 'Exit' sign on the inner side of every flat house exit door."

Bruno Was Vindicated.

A lady leading a Scotch terrier by a silver chain entered a street car, east-bound, the other afternoon. The dog crawled under the seat and went to sleep. Presently a stout man carrying a market basket took the vacant place beside her. In a few blocks the woman began to get nervous. "Step it, Bruno!" she cried in a shrill whisper. She had no dog permit and the situation was delicate.

Presently she turned pale and, jerking the chain, cried: "Lie down Bruno, and behave yourself!" A moment later she jumped up and began to do a solo dance. "The fat man beside her stared at her in astonishment. Then an idea struck him, and he stooped over and looked at his basket. Recovering himself with a great effort, he said:

"Madam, when you are through with my lobster will you kindly return it to me?"

It took smelling salts to bring the lady to herself. But Bruno was vindicated.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Gardening Secret.

Said Herbert Adams, the sculptor, whose statue of Bryant everyone knows, just as all Washington is admiring his recently unveiled memorial fountain there:

"When I first planted my garden, I thought I liked some flowers better than others; but, after you've worked among flowers awhile, no matter what kind of flowers they are, you like them. I've noticed that certain flowers grow better for some people than for others. There's William Howard Hart—anything will grow for him! When I asked him the secret of his success, he just held up his grinning fork."

"It's the secret the old woman had," he told me, "only she used a kitchen fork. Poking around the things. It is the care and affection you give them!"—Suburban Life.

Historic Discovery.

Mr. W. T. Oldrieve, chief architect of the government office of works in Edinburgh, has announced that he has discovered remains in Edinburgh castle of the ancient fortress known as King David's Tower, and also the well which supplied the castle and garrison with water. Excavations revealed much of King David's Tower still standing, its walls eight feet thick, and rising to a height of nearly fifty feet above the original rock surface.

U. S. S. CHICAGO IN DANGER

Runs Dangerously Close to Winthrop Shore in the Fog.

"The cruiser Chicago, Lieut. Commander Abernethy, while returning from this port to Boston on Monday, ran dangerously close to the beach at Winthrop during the thick fog at noon, but backed away and later came to anchor."

Residents of Winthrop saw the outlines of the white vessel loom up through the fog. At the same time the Chicago's deep whistle was heard. She blew two blasts and then moved away and was soon lost to view in the fog.

The Chicago which has been used by the State Naval Militia was pressed into service to transport the prisoners from the Charlestown navy yard to the naval prison here. She left here at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and was groping through the night when she ran too far to the northward. She was moving so slowly at the time that no difficulty was experienced in backing away from danger.

She will remain until the fog clears sufficiently for her commander to pick up the channel buoys. She will probably come into the upper harbor this morning.

The Chicago is going into drydock at the navy yard for underwater cleaning and painting and some needed repairs.

The ship has on board about a score of marines returning to the Charlestown navy yard.

THE PRESIDENT HAS APPEALED TO ROCKEFELLER

Washington, April 27.—President Wilson has made a personal appeal to John D. Rockefeller to bring about a settlement of the Colorado coal strike, and end the violence which has caused the loss of a score of lives and large property loss.

Mr. Rockefeller, who owns a large part of the mines affected by the strike, responded to a telegram from the President, declaring he had turned over his interests in Colorado to his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., whom he would ask to cooperate with Chairman Foster of the House Committee on Mines and Mining. The President sent Mr. Foster to New York today to talk with the younger Rockefeller.

Upon the outcome of the conference depends whether Federal troops which have been asked for by all sides of the controversy, will be sent to the strike zone. Recently the younger Rockefeller at a hearing of the Mines Committee of the House said the mine owners would fight to the end, even though they lost all they had invested in Colorado. Since then the conflict has raged with all the horrors of actual war.

The President, Cabinet officers, Senators and Congressmen have been flooded with telegrams describing the most gruesome happenings and terrible scenes.

"Nothing that has happened in Mexico," said a Cabinet official today, "compared with the awful things that have occurred in Colorado. The public mind has for the moment been centered on Mexico and has not observed the great domestic struggle between the strike breakers and the miners and the militia in Colorado."

Senator Thomas of Colorado conferred at the White House today and all the members of the Colorado delegation in Congress kept in touch with the situation. J. W. Buckhart, chairman of the Democratic County Committee at Chandler, Colo., telegraphing today to Representative Keating about the miners capturing the Chandler mines, declared that the only surrender of the mines would be to Federal soldiers, but that the miners promise not to destroy property.

Senator Thomas and Representatives Keating and Taylor conferred among themselves and with the White House today. Representative Taylor received a telegram today from Gov. Ammons requesting the Colorado delegation to advise the President that the truce between the strikers and the state authorities had been violated, that the citizens of Canon City are in mortal terror, that the State Militia is inadequate, that Trinidad is overrun with armed strikers, that the police and sheriffs are helpless and the citizens in imminent danger.

A $500,000 PIPE

One Should be Allowed to Smoke That in Any Hotel

Among the royal treasures of Persia is a pipe set with diamonds, rubies and emeralds to the value. It is estimated, and not for years have there been so much standing water in the low lands as at present. The rain fall has been very heavy, estimated at over two inches, and this combined with the already wet condition of the ground, will pit back planting on low ground for several weeks.

Outside of the city there are several good sized ponds. The great swamp beyond the Hayes' farm is completely under water, and the acoustical pentagon in this bog looks a long way off. On the Greenland there is a large piece of ground under water, and beyond the water there is another large field under water. The brooks are all running full. In the city the lot off Papoff avenue, purchased for the Army, is under water and looks more like the site for a naval brigade than an artillery corps.

Farmers are hoping for a week or two of warm weather, so that they can get some of their planting started.

OVER TWO INCHES OF RAIN FALL

The easterly storm which has prevailed since 8 o'clock Sunday morning has practically flooded the low lands, and not for years have there been so much standing water in the low lands as at present. The rain fall has been very heavy, estimated at over two inches, and this combined with the already wet condition of the ground, will pit back planting on low ground for several weeks.

CAN'T KEEP A SECRET

Married Men Can't According to Lord Kitchener and Others Who Would Employ Only Bachelors

Can a married man keep a secret from his wife? Some people think not, and among them are the heads of the firm which is building the wonderful new racing yacht with which Sir Thomas Lipton is going to make one more attempt to capture the America cup.

There is always a deal of secrecy about the design of a new racing yacht, and particularly about the shape of the keel. The keel of Shamrock IV was cast on November 24th last, and not one married man was among the men employed nor took part in the construction of the hull.

There are others besides yacht builders who have a similar distrust of married men. During all those years that Lord Kitchener was busy perfecting his plans for his ship upon the Mahdi, he would not have a henchman upon his staff. If one of the staff wanted to get married, why he had to find another job, that was all.

As a matter of fact there were singularly few desertions for this cause. The Sirdar gave his men precious little time for love making.

In business which depends for their success on secret formulas, married men are sometimes refused employment.

One such, for more than a century past has been manufacturing a certain popular sauce. The firm has two large factories and employs a very large number of hands, including married men in the works and the scores of women. There are plenty of actual mixings in the hands of a few highly paid and much trusted men. The plan seems to have worked well.

TUBERCULOSIS

In addition to plenty of fresh air and proper diet, those suffering from or who are predisposed to Tuberculosis are recommended to use Beckman's Alternative to stop night sweats, banish fever and hasten recovery. This medicine, by reason of its successful use during the past, amongst the fullest investigation possible by every sufferer.

Beckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections, and in rebuilding the system. It contains no narcotics, nor harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Sold by leading druggists. Write to the Beckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries.

In spite of many attempts at immortality, the secret has remained inviolate for 129 years.

One might also quote the case of the well known liquor, Champagne, the formula of which remained a secret among its monastic manufacturers for more than 200 years.

Some industries there are in which the element of danger is so great that the employees prefer bachelors to married men in the works also.

And in a factory at Wilmington, Del., which is the oldest established dynamite factory in the United States, a similar regulation is in force.

The danger of venturing aloft in aeroplanes, is happily diminishing month by month, but even so, flying is still one of the riskiest pursuits in which man engages. It is for this reason that the authorities who control the Royal Flying Corps prefer to employ unmarried officers and men.

Newsboys.

The Newsboys' Association of an eastern city held its annual banquet a few evenings ago, and it was greatly to the credit of numerous prominent men of the city, including the mayor, that they took part and helped to make the occasion one that the boys will never forget. The mayor and others had kind and encouraging words to offer, and the chief speaker gave them a talk on patriotism which they will be sure to remember with profit to themselves and to their country.

It is always an excellent thing for men to interest themselves in the affairs of boys, and there is no class of boys more deserving of encouragement and aid than those who act the part of middlemen between the printing offices and the readers of newspapers. There is no class of boys or workers of any age more faithful and reliable. No weather stops the newsboy. He is on hand in storm and shine, in heat and cold. In his work he seems to absorb something of the strenuous spirit that pervades every newspaper office, and no workers in the world are more regular or faithful in the performance of their tasks.

So common is the newsboy and so familiar is his cry that people come to look upon him as a matter of course and forget the really important part he plays in the life of the times. But if by reason of a strike or any other cause the distributors of the newspapers were to suddenly cease from their labors there would go up a cry from the reading public in tones indicating wrath, disappointment and despair. The stoppage of the leading industry in any city or town would cause less commotion and general misgiving.

The newspapers are an important feature of the life of today, and the boys who distribute them are a highly important industrial element in spite of the fact that their clothes are not always of the best and that the feet of many of them are bare during the season which permits the renunciation of shoes. But they do their work with a lusty good will, they earn what they get and are entitled to the kindly consideration of all thoughtful people. Many of them become successful business men through the habits of industry and thrift which they form while "hawking" papers, but they never become successful enough or rich enough to make them heedless of the usefulness and merits of the newsboys.

Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, is greatly interested in the news from that distressed country, which he receives at Monte Carlo, where he is under treatment for grip. He realizes, as does the wide world, that conditions in Mexico have changed greatly and for the worse since the raising of and persistence in the foolish cry, "Diaz must go."

Two Chicago men recently fought a duel. After firing once and doing no injury they locked arms and started for a nearby place for "refreshments." That was as sensible as it is possible to make a duel, and the judgment displayed is probably due to the fact that the combatants were newspaper men.

Booker T. Washington, the acknowledged leader of the Negro race, calls upon his people to demand as good accommodations on the railroads as white people have. And, so long as they pay the same fare, is there any good reason why they should not have them?

"Let us," says a public speaker, "enjoy the works of the minor poets while we are waiting for the great poet of the future." It is to be feared that some of the "minors" will not take kindly to this sort of talk.

Argentine beef is said to be proving popular in some places, and not because it is much cheaper than the home product, for it is not. And the more popular it becomes the less liable will it be to become cheaper.

Even the aviators are offering their services to the government. How much these are worth may be a question, but the offer shows that the birdmen are imbued with the spirit of patriotism.

The Emperor has broken all trans-Atlantic records by crossing the ocean in five days, 14 hours and 30 minutes. The great ship is worthy of its name.

When some men go on a rampage they smash the furniture, but when furniture makers go on strike they simply smash the furniture business.

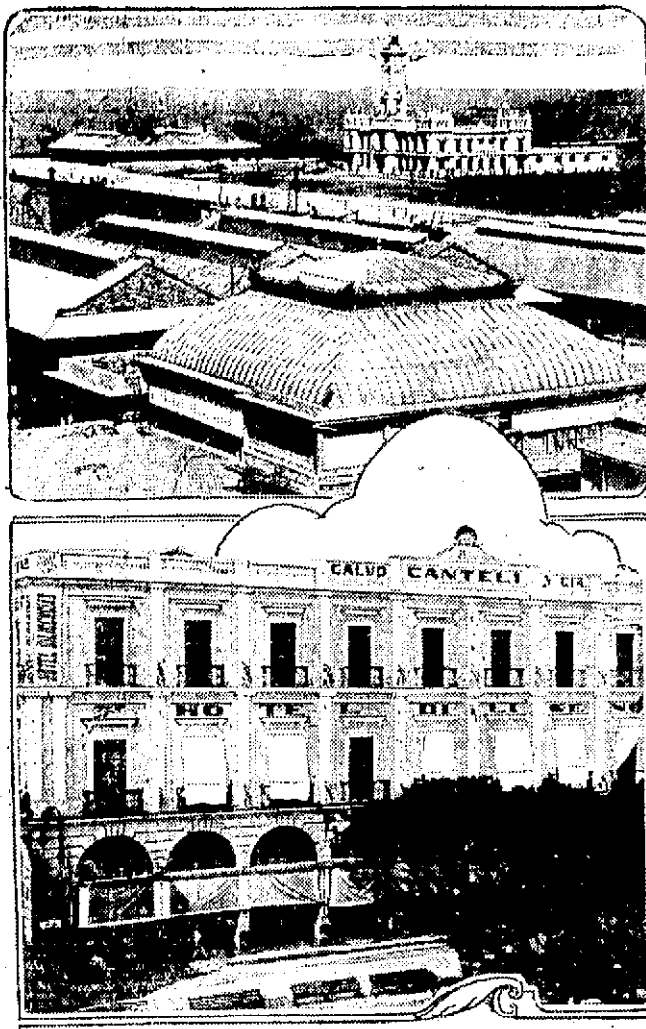

Militiamen are not obliged to take part in foreign wars, but of course they will all volunteer their services in case they are needed.

It is said that the moving picture business, like electrical development, is still in its infancy. Ye gods!

The present is considered an opportune time for Americans who can get out of Mexico.

It is about time for the war poets to begin.

Custom House at Vera Cruz and Hotel Used as Hospital by U. S.

GOES TO NEW YORK.

Cruiser Tennessee Will Replace U. S. S. Washington as Station Ship.

The armored cruiser Washington, Captain E. N. Blier commanding, will leave the New York yard today. She will go to Fort Monroe where she will receive a detachment of sailors, then proceed to Port Royal, S. C., where another detachment of blue-jackets will board the cruiser. Once all three squadrons are aboard the Washington will steam toward Vera Cruz.

The Washington was the station ship at the New York yard until a week ago when she was ordered to join the flying squadron. Yesterday word was received from Washington that the Cruiser Tennessee now at the League Island navy yard in Philadelphia had been ordered to come to New York and make the place of the receiving ship. The Tennessee is not to arrive there for a week.

A PLEASANT STREET.

A very marked improvement on Pleasant street is the beautiful appearance of the newly painted premises of the Mark H. Wentworth estate, occupied by Miss Susan J. Wentworth. The 120 years which have passed over this now renovated mansion have left no signs of old age, and there are few houses in Portsmouth that have a newer and fresher aspect, especially since the painters have given it a thorough overhauling. It is now a very bright spot, and together with the improvements that have recently come upon the Gov. Langdon house, adjoining (both built at the same time), have given to Pleasant street something more than a mere name. It is a pleasure to walk or ride by these two beautiful mansions, and then to read the incidents of their history. This house was built by Capt. Thomas Thompson in 1784, and was afterwards the residence of Dr. Josiah Dwight, a prominent physician in Portsmouth, and of Mark H. Wentworth, Esq., and his family since about 1850. The handsome office of the Universalist church and Haven Park, together with the view stretching across the South Pond to the playgrounds and the hospital, make Pleasant street pleasant indeed. And when the electric lights are shining over the pond the evening effect is very nice. The newly painted houses of the Jacob Wendell estate and of Mr. Richard I. Walden on the corner of Third street also add much to the appearance of the street.

A fit introduction to all these Pleasant street improvements is the Elks' Home, which takes its place at the head of the street and leads all the rest in its outlay for use and adornment, it being the best of all the associational buildings in Portsmouth, and, indeed of anything of its kind in New England outside of Boston.

DEMAND OF ENGINEERS IS REFUSED

Brotherhood Vote to Insist on Adjustment Without Compromise.

Boston, April 28.—Demands of the 3000 engineers and firemen of the Boston and Maine railroad for re-adjustment of the schedule of hours and runs were refused by the road officials last night. The general committee of the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers, Firemen and Enginemen then met and voted to insist upon adjustment without compromise. Preparations were begun for taking a strike vote among the men affected. Another conference will be held between the officials of the road and the brotherhoods today after which union officials announced, definite action would be taken.

SUCCESSFUL MUSICAL COMEDY.

When John C. Fisher determined to send forth again his successful and sensational musical comedy, "The Red Rose," he was urged by a well-meaning order to save expense. The argument friend to trim down the production in favor of this was that Mr. Fisher had already won over his public and that it would not mean less receipts were a few hundred dollars deducted from the weekly expenditures. But this friend failed to understand that Mr. Fisher has a vast pride in achievement, as well as business interest, and that he would not under any circumstances abuse the confidence of the public, especially after having spent years in making his productions worthy of the highest favor and thousands of dollars in the same effort.

What Mr. Fisher has done is to take many of the able players from the original New York cast and put them in one company, instead of two or three groups and have an inferior number two and three company, which is the policy of so many producers. Then he has had a complete new scenic production built at his New York studios and workrooms, on the same splendid scale as the original, with such new decorative features as experience might have suggested. To this investment of many thousands of dollars must be added almost as much for a complete new set of costumes. These have been made by leading modistes, milliners and costumers of Paris and represent the very latest modes.

It would have been quite possible to have merely repaired and repainted the original costumes and other accessories; but Mr. Fisher preferred to get rid entirely of the worn things and to start his organization absolutely fresh. It may also be stated that in no wise is the quality or the number of the interpreters lessened. Where original players were not obtained, newcomers of as good if not better standards have been secured.

"The Red Rose" will be seen at the Portsmouth theatre on Wednesday evening April 29, and it will surely prove the theatrical event of the season.

New York, April 28.—The former Spanish gunboat Isla de Luzon, which was captured by Admiral Dewey in the Spanish-American war and of late has been cruising under the American flag in Cuban waters, arrived here yesterday and entered the Brooklyn navy yard to refit.

She will probably be a unit in Rear Admiral Winslow's special service squadron in Mexican waters.

GUILD SAYS U. S. IS JOKE OF CHANCELLERIES

"We are the joke of the Chancelleries."

CURRENT OPINION

Barely Possible to Cross Atlantic in Air, But Attempt Would Be Folly.

It is a bare possibility that a one-man machine without a float and favored by a wind of, say, fifteen miles an hour might succeed in getting across the Atlantic, but such an attempt would be the height of folly. When one comes to increase the size of the craft the possibility rapidly fades away.

This is because of the difficulties of carrying sufficient fuel. On the basis of the figures which I have worked out I find that no less than fifty-three per cent. of the entire load, including the weight of the machine itself and all, would have to be fuel. In other words, if the aeroplane, loaded and ready to start, weighed one thousand pounds with aviator and all aboard, of that total five hundred and thirty pounds must be gasoline. And these figures are based on the most efficient performance of the motor all the way and the lowest known fuel consumption. It will readily be seen, therefore, why the Atlantic flight is out of the question.—Orville Wright, Aviator.

THAW LAWYERS AWAIT JEROME'S MOVE IN APPEAL

Overtures in Proceedings for Filing Appeal Expected Today.

Concord, April 27.—"It is Jerome's move," said Harry K. Thaw to a reporter today, and if he has really been sincere in his assertions to the past he will doubtless commence proceedings for the filing of his appeal to Judge Aldrich's decision tomorrow.

The United States court for the district of New Hampshire comes in tomorrow at 11 o'clock and in view of the fact that Jerome has repeatedly stated his determination to fight to the finish and to lose no time in taking exceptions to Judge Aldrich's ruling on the habeas corpus consideration, it is believed likely that immediate steps will be taken by the representatives of New York state.

The next move is of course squarely up to Jerome. The court has decided against the state of New York and as soon as Judge Aldrich issues an order sustaining the writ the attorney may be expected in view of his previous attitude, to file his appeal, and his assignment of errors. The latter is but a mere formality, being a statement of the errors the State of New York believes Judge Aldrich has made in his finding that the writ of habeas corpus should be sustained.

During the past days since the opinion of Judge Aldrich was handed down it has been rumored that the attorneys for Thaw would enter a new plea asking Judge Aldrich to fix bail with out further litigation. But whether or not this is true it has not yet been substantiated. Discussion of this phase of the case is flatly denied.

Since the handing down of Judge Aldrich's decision, the principals on both sides have been extremely busy preparing their cases for presentation to the supreme court. All realize the importance of future developments and the truth that the great extradition case, while yet possible of hearing for some months is drawing to a close.

Beyond the question of a doubt the members of the supreme bench will sit in judgment on the state of New York's appeal from Judge Aldrich's favorable ruling to Thaw's plea, and the right of the Thaw attorneys and of the determined attorneys from New York state before the high tribunal will be a great and final one.

It is possible that a hearing may be held before the case is placed before the superior court. The district court may set a date for a hearing at which time lawyers for both New York and Thaw will appear and assist in putting the case in shape for appearance at the higher court.

It is impossible to determine at this time just what Thaw is planning to do, but the opening of the district court tomorrow will be observed with keen interest. It is likely that the Thaw forces for the present will adopt a watching waiting policy, at least until they determine the plans of the prosecutor from New York state.

MARINES WILL HAVE NO TEAM

Mexican Trouble Causes Withdrawal From Sunset League.

It will be a great disappointment to the Sunset League fans to learn that the U. S. M. C. will not be represented in the league this year, the team having been broken up during the preliminary practice by the Mexican disturbance.

This team will be much missed as the clean, snappy game which the marines have played in the past was admired by both spectators and opponents. As the total force of marines now at the yard is less than one hundred a team for the league is a dark-looking proposition.

As before stated in The Herald, Riverside Lodge, I. O. O. F., will enter no team this year. Organizations which will be represented are the Portsmouth Athletic Club, Consolidation Coal Company, Morley Station Factory, Portsmouth Y. M. C. A. and possibly the local Lodge of Elks. An effort is being made to organize a team among the navy yard employees, which would fill the last vacancy, and make up the six teams necessary.

UNION REBEKAH LODGE MINSTRELS AND DANCE

Next Monday and Tuesday evening, May 4th and 5th the Union Rebekah Lodge, assisted by the Apollo Quartet, Messrs Mitchell, Cook, Rowe, and Nowick will present to the public an up-to-date minstrel show. It is the desire of those in charge to put before the public a show worthy of mention.

A large chorus under the direction of Mr. Alex Billbruck, after untiring rehearsals will entertain the audience with an excellent overture, after which the funny and men, 2 in all, will do the rest. Come and see Tinker Asher do a few of his funny stunts. Come and hear Mr. Billbruck's latest song hit. A fine show with a big dance after for a small price.

Admission 35c. Reserved seats 15c extra. On sale at Hoyt and Daw's Thursday morning. Show starts at 8.15 sharp. Everybody come.

A NEW BALLAD.

Mr. Alex Billbruck and Mrs. Fred E. Hasty of this city, who wrote the song entitled "When the Stars Kiss the Day Goodnight," which was a big hit at the U. S. A. minstrel performance, have written another ballad entitled "Just With You," which will be sung for the first time next Monday and Tuesday evenings at the Union Rebekah minstreln, at Freeman's hall, by Mr. Ernest Cook assisted by the Apollo quartet. Mr. Billbruck has written a beautiful melody to the new ballad, which is sure to linger in the minds of the audience.

The song "When the Stars Kiss the Day Goodnight" will be published about the first week in May, and is sure to become popular.

HELD A SOCIAL.

Star Lodge of Odd Fellows held a very enjoyable social at K. G. E. hall on Monday evening, which was well attended. Mrs. Ella Hartman was chairman of the social, assisted by Mrs. Fannie Freeman and Mrs. Florence Woods. Mrs. Eugene Taylor of Cambridge, Mass., a former resident of this city, and a member of the lodge, was a visitor. Lunch of fancy sandwiches, cake and coffee was served.

CRIMINAL DOCKET CLEARED UP IN SUPERIOR COURT

In Superior Court in Exeter on Monday, County Solicitor Gupit practically cleared up the criminal docket, with a good day's work. When he finished late Monday afternoon there remained but three cases left on the docket, and these will be disposed of later.

The first to be taken up were four juvenile cases and contrary to the ruling of the other judges of the Superior Court, Judge Chamberlain insisted on the young lads being brought into the open court, for disposition of the cases.

The regular criminal docket was then taken up and Charles Bachelder and Clair Robinson of Lyme, two young men who were arrested in Epiphany last fall for having burglarized in their mind and possession, entered a plea of nolo and the cases were placed on file.

W. J. Goddard, of Newmarket, embezzlement, pleaded guilty and the case was continued to October for sentence.

Henry Perry of Derry, pleaded guilty for statutory offense and was fined $50 and cost at $25, and a jail sentence of six months suspended.

John Sautelle of Londonderry for allowing sawdust to be dumped in a brook, was fined $50, and costs at $18. This is the first case of this kind ever brought before the court.

Joseph Peters, of Dover, refusing to show his pedler's license when requested, was fined $10, and costs.

An appeal case from the local court, in addition to his fine he paid the cost of the appeal.

Samuel Tufts and Edward Tufts of Candia, charged with assault, ordered to stand trial and were defended by Lawyer O'Neal of Manchester. A jury was empaneled and after the states case was in they changed their plea and entered a plea of nolo and paid costs.

Rufus Woods of Portsmouth, four cases of appeal from the local court. He paid a fine of $10 and $8.81 each on three and $15, and costs $9.75 on the fourth.

The civil docket will be taken up for statutory offense and was fined $50 and cost at $25, and a jail sentence of six months suspended.

NEW CASTLE

"It never rains but it pours." This is a true proverb, the literal truth whereof the rain-visited people of New Castle have appreciated to an uncomfortable degree for an unpleasant number of days and nights and everybody will joyously welcome the sun. Spring looks fairly peaceful now but perhaps this is only an armistice. It is generally allowed that Shakespeare played it safe when he alluded to the uncertainty of April weather. But let us hope that the elements have now ceased their friskiness and that henceforth the season will be marked by the most genial smiles and mankind watch the lengthening days with serene complacency.

HURAM EWEVER,

The Price of a Proposal

He was on his way to propound the great question. How should he ask her? What would be her answer? "Ticket please," said the conductor. The absent-minded traveler was so entirely absent that he paid no heed to the demand.

An impatient touch upon his arm and the louder repetition of "Ticket please, if you please," restored the accustomed mind to its accustomed body-niche.

"Ticket?" Yes, yes in a minute—certainly sir. He felt in his various pockets, looked in his wallet room of his hat and scrutinized it as he turned it slowly around. Then, jumping up, he was looking on the floor, on the seat, when a thin little squeak of a voice proceeding from a very small body who was riding backward across the aisle, said accusingly, "You chewed it up mister, I saw yer!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Out Your Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning scalding sensation or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread. The water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation, and is very profuse; again there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome.

Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water, before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and made from the acid of grapes, combined with lithia and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant effervescent 100% water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

JOB GOES A-BEGGING

No Democrat Wants Postmastership at York Beach.

A peculiar situation exists at York Beach where it is stated that no Democrat desires the office of postmaster, made vacant by the death of the Postmaster, A. C. Farwell. Last summer a competitive examination was held for the position of postmaster, but vacant by the resignation of William C. Hildreth, now of Manchester.

This examination resulted in the appointment and confirmation of A. C. Farwell as postmaster. After moving the office from the Tapley building to the store adjoining his candy shop, and expending much money in fixtures and improvements, Postmaster Farwell fell sick suddenly with pneumonia and died a few months after assuming his duties.

Now the department is in a quandary as to the best method of meeting the great rush of business that accompanies the vast summer crowds here.

Charles Norton, an opponent of the late Mr. Farwell, also a Democrat, does not desire the office now. Clarence Gough, also a former sealer, and also a Democrat, does not desire the office.

Robert Farwell, Postmaster Farwell's son, who is assistant postmaster has been given temporary charge of the office but does not desire the office this summer.

Hence, it is said that overtures are being made to former Postmaster Hildreth a strong Republican to assume charge of the office during the busy rush of the summer. While no formal appointment has been received by Mr. Hildreth, it is stated on good authority that he will be back of the mail boxes again this summer.

Mr. Hildreth does not desire the office permanently however.

MEXICAN CHIEF

I WILL ARBITRATE

prising the last remnants of the American colony.

Sec. Bryan said that so far as authentic information was concerned, he knew of no American citizen having been killed in Mexico City or elsewhere in the Mexican Republic within the last few days. Through the efforts of the British Embassy here and the British Legation in Mexico City, the impression that Mexicans were detained at Vera Cruz had been removed, as Mr. Bryan announced yesterday.

Mr. Bryan said efforts are still being made to obtain the release of the 33 Americans detained at Aguas Calientes and those held up on the railroads between Mexico City and Vera Cruz.

Senator Stone, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, came to the White House after Mr. Bryan left and conferred at length with the President.

Whether the arrest of Consul General Hanna by Federalists at Monterey would widen the breach and add to the lack of the diplomats, was one of the day's possible developments. President Wilson and Sec. Bryan are reported to be greatly incensed over that incident, incurred over Monterey incident.

Consul General Hanna reported he had been subjected to insults at the hands of Federalists and kept a prisoner in the Government Palace, until Constitutionalists captured the town two days later and released him. That was after the seizure of Vera Cruz.

"Acceptable to Constitutionalists."

Reported utterances of one of Carranza's confidential agents, that the Constitutional leader would make no statement on the proposal of the South American diplomats, but that "the offer is a hopeful sign, and any proposition that looks to peace is acceptable to the Constitutionalists," added to hope in Washington that the crisis might simmer to settlement.

From Chihuahua Carranza had ordered his officers to retaliate their attack on Tampico and apprehend Federalists responsible for affronts to the United States at that port, so they might be tried by a rebel court. It was reported that Carranza had been asked for a statement of his attitude to clear up questions arising from possibly faulty translation of his note issued after the seizure of Vera Cruz.

Refugees Hauled from Trains.

While fears over the safety of Americans in Mexico City were partially dispelled by Sec. Bryan's announcement that Huerta officials and Rear Admiral Fletcher had arranged for the departure of United States citizens from the Federal capital, Consul Canada reported that more than a score of American refugees, among them United States Consul Schmitz, had been hauled from a train at Aguas Calientes north of Mexico City, and imprisoned. It was said, however, that their arrest might have occurred several days ago. The Consul's informant said Federal soldiers made the arrests.

While diplomats and the President and his advisers labored in Washington over new developments in the situation, Rear Gen. Funston, with a reinforcement of infantry and artillery, was nearing Vera Cruz, and Rear Admirals Badger and Fletcher were preparing for any eventualities. They had captured the town, placed it under martial law and were preparing for the reception of Gen. Funston, who immediately will take charge of all the American forces about the seaport.

He will have at his disposal about 10,000 fighting men—infantry, artillery, marines and bluejackets.

Enduring Vera Cruz Climate Well.

No ill-effects of the torrid temperatures of Vera Cruz had been reported among the American forces.

Under martial law the business of government in the city is resuming with municipal authorities at their posts. The Federal officials decided they could not work under American supervision, and that was one of the reasons for the proclamation, according to Rear Admiral Fletcher's report to the Navy Department.

Admiral Fletcher reported that proposed provisions for regulation of the new establishment at Vera Cruz contemplated that officials to be appointed might be Americans, Mexicans or any other nationality. "It being the intent and purpose to extend to the inhabitants of the territory as large a participation in the Government as may be practical, with due consideration for the ends to be hereby accomplished."

It is proposed in the administration of the city that local and Government laws of Mexico be followed as closely as possible.

Refugees Coming by Thousands.

Reports early today received at the Navy Department from Admiral Fletcher stated that the proclamation had created no excitement, that people had resumed passing freely about the streets, and were attracted to the parks and plazas by the playing of bands from American warships.

As transports bearing Army reinforcements approached for Mexican Gulf ports today, steamships bringing distressed refugees hurried toward northern ports. At New Orleans and Galveston the railroads had agreed to move victims of menacing conditions in the southern republic to any point in the United States at half fare, this to apply whether the fares were paid by the Government or the individual.

Two thousand refugees are reported en route from Tampico, where no Americans now remain, while it is believed that at least 1000 Americans who were in Huerta's capital Wednesday have safely reached Vera Cruz.

Transports Reduce Speed.

Vera Cruz, April 27.—The transports bringing the brigade of American troops from Galveston, under the command of Brig. Gen. Frederick Funston, have reduced their speed in order not to arrive here before late today.

It is improbable that the men will land before tonight or tomorrow morning.

The battleship Vermont went out today to join the Louisiana, which is conveying the transports.

Americans on Oil Land Unsafe.

Washington, April 27.—The Navy Department received today a request from all interests in New York with property in the Tampico oil district, that an American force be sent to rescue 100 employees now on oil lands about 57 miles southwest of Tampico.

The request states that the men are well armed, but are unable to get to the American ships because of fighting between Constitutionalists and Federal troops about Tampico.

Rebels Attacking Tampico.

Washington, April 27.—Constitutionalists are continuing their attack on the city, according to a dispatch from Admiral Mayo, received at the Navy Department today.

To Warn Huerta.

Vera Cruz, April 27.—In an attempt to obtain definite information of the situation of the Americans cut off in Mexico City and for whose safety the gravest fears are held here, Commander Twedy of the British Navy started for the capital late yesterday.

He bore with him dispatches from Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock to the Acting British Minister, Sir Lionel Carden, ostensibly the carrying of these dispatches was the object of Twedy's journey, but the real reason was to satisfy the American authorities here about the fate of their countrymen who had been barred by Huerta's orders from leaving.

Also he will convey to Gen. Huerta, through Minister Carden, an emphatic intimation that he personally, together with all the members of his Government, will be held responsible for any American lives sacrificed wantonly not only in the capital, but in other parts of the republic as well.

The strongest possible representations will be made to Huerta that any violation of the rules of civilized warfare through which American men, women and children may suffer will not only provoke the repudiation of the whole world, but will bring retaliatory measures of the sternest description from the United States.

Commander Twedy's instructions are to have Carden make no words in putting the case before Huerta. The expectation is that the two Englishmen may be able to prevail upon Huerta, not only to release the prominent Americans whom it is reported he has under arrest, but to permit all of the Americans in the capital to leave for Vera Cruz.

Some of those who it is reported are now under arrest are C. H. M. Aguirre, president of the American Colony Society; Krophel M. Van Zandt, Charles F. Vaeger, manager of the American Club; E. L. Beck, the president, and Burton W. Wilson, the secretary, and other officers of the Mexico City Banking Company, and George L. McCarthy, president, and his fellow-officers of the Mercantile Bank.

Thredo, Texas, April 27.—Mexican Federalists who evacuated Nuevo Laredo, Friday after setting fire to the town and skinning with the American border patrol, yesterday attempted to cross to the American side at Minera, 20 miles north of Laredo, and were driven back by United States soldiers with a loss of 10 killed and 20 wounded according to an unconfirmed report received here.

Berlin, April 27.—Germany, England and France have advised Provisional President Huerta through their ministers in Mexico City to accede to the demands of the United States, according to an announcement made here today.

New York, April 27.—The Evening World today prints the following copyrighted despatch:

Mexico City via Galveston, April 27.—Preliminary are being discussed today at Cuernavaca for the surrender of Emiliano Zapata with all his chiefs and followers who have expressed a desire to fight on the government side against the "foreign invaders."

The capital is quieting down and there is no longer a rush of Americans to get away. A special train has been arranged to leave tonight with Americans desiring to leave, but not a few Americans, after inscribing their names on the roster of departure, reconsidered and have decided to remain.

There was little to differentiate yesterday from other Sundays in the Mexican capital. The city was quiet and orderly, and Mexicans in general were most considerate toward Americans remaining here.

The churches were crowded and the streets presented their customary animated appearance. The theatres were all well patronized including the cinematograph shows yesterday afternoon.

Nearly all the American stores have reopened and the stores owned by persons of other nationalities have removed their shutters.

Villa to Meet Carranza.

Juarez, Mex., April 27.—Gen. Francisco Villa expects to leave for the South today, but said he would return to Juarez soon. At Chihuahua he is expected to confer with Gen. Carranza, head of the Constitutionalists, concerning American relations and the mediation plan of the South American republics.

In addition, he says, he has important duties in the south in connection with organizing the campaign against the Federalists who, after defeats at Monterrey, Torreon and San Pedro, have rallied their scattered forces at Saltillo.

Gen. Villa telegraphed Gen. Pablo Gonzalez, whose troops captured Monterrey, to treat foreigners with every consideration and to disavow exaggerated reports of strained relations between the rebels and the United States.

Gen. Villa said he was heartily in favor of the mediation plan.

"I feel sure of a speedy solution of the complications, and then we can go ahead with our revolution," he declared.

Summary of Monday's Mexican News.
